Procedure: Admissions

Purpose

To provide a clear statement of the University’s coursework student admissions procedure, and support transparent and streamlined application processes.

Definitions

ANU coursework study: ANU coursework study includes undergraduate, honours, graduate coursework, non-award and cross-institutional studies.

Domestic applicants: For the purposes of admission at ANU, domestic applicants are: Australian or New Zealand citizens (including dual citizenship holders of either country); Australian permanent residents; and holders of an Australian humanitarian visa.

International applicants: For the purposes of admission at ANU, international applicants are applicants who are not domestic applicants.

GTE: The genuine temporary entrant (GTE) requirement is an integrity measure used by the Department of Home Affairs to ensure the student visa program is used as intended and not as a way for international students to maintain ongoing residency in Australia.

ATAR and minimum ATAR scores accepted at ANU: The Australian Tertiary Admission Rank (ATAR) provides a measure of a student’s overall academic achievement in the Higher School Certificate (HSC) in relation to other students.

Assessable qualifications accepted at ANU: For admission to undergraduate programs at ANU, the following qualifications from an approved institution will be considered when assessing applicant’s eligibility:

- Australian Year 12 or international equivalent
- Completed Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF) level 5 or higher
- Minimum 1 year of full time enrolment (1.0 FTE) in a single bachelor program study

For admission to graduate programs at ANU, applicants are usually required to have at least a completed Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF) level 7 or higher, or international equivalent when assessing applicants’ eligibility.
Selection Rank: The ranking that the University uses to assess admission to an undergraduate program. A person’s program selection rank can include their ATAR or other rank derived from an assessable qualification, any adjustments they are eligible for, such as equity or subject adjustments, other contributions calculated on the basis of work experience or previous non-secondary study, portfolio assessments, results of the Special Tertiary Admissions Test, or other supplementary tests.

Adjustment factors: These are additional points that may be used in combination with an applicant’s Australian Tertiary Admission Rank (ATAR) to derive a person’s undergraduate program selection rank. Adjustments do not change applicants’ ATARs, but change their selection rank for a particular program or programs. Common types of adjustment factors are:

- Elite Athlete and Performer adjustments: Adjustments available on the basis of the applicant’s sporting or artistic prowess.
- Equity adjustment: Adjustment available on the basis of characteristics associated with disadvantage.
- Subject adjustment: Adjustment available on the basis of the particular relevance to the academic requirements of a higher education program of a secondary subject that the applicant undertook.
- Maximum adjustment: The maximum total adjustments possible to an applicant’s Selection Rank from the combination of all adjustments they are eligible for.

Mature Age Entry: Mature-age entry at ANU refers to domestic undergraduate applicants who are 21 or over and do not have assessable qualifications or whose qualifications do not meet the University’s normal entry requirements.

ANU Extension Program: ANU Extension is a program for domestic secondary school students that allows them the opportunity to enrol in an ANU academic award program for which they are eligible for credit on their enrolment in tertiary studies. Students enrolling in the program must have a concurrent full-time enrolment at an ACT College or school (whether Government or non-Government).

ANU Honours Program: ANU Honours Program is an advanced degree for those applicants who can do independent research on a chosen topic. It may be structured following a three-year bachelor pass degree or four year’s direct admission from secondary school studies.

ANU Pathway Programs: The ANU Pathway Programs offer applicants, who do not meet the direct entry requirements of the University, some alternative pathway options, such as the Diploma Programs, and the Enabling Program.

ANU Undergraduate Supplementary Admission Schemes: The ANU Undergraduate Supplementary Admission Schemes allow eligible applicants to be considered on other criteria together with their ATAR scores. These schemes include: National Access Scheme, Schools Recommendation Scheme, Elite Athletes Scheme and Special Consideration.

Degree Transfer: Coursework students currently enrolled in a program for a minimum of 1 semester full time (or equivalent), who have not graduated or are eligible to graduate, at ANU apply via the degree transfer process if they are applying to transfer into an ANU program at the same career level, e.g. undergraduate to undergraduate degree including within or to a flexible double degree. Applications must be submitted within the deadlines specified by the Division of Student Administration (DSA). Degree transfers exclude honours (as a plus one degree) as a destination degree. Degree transfers are an act of admission.

Applicant: Applicant means a person who has already lodged an application to study a specific program. This can include applications through the Universities Admissions Centre (UAC); direct applications and degree transfer.

Prospective student: A prospective student is a person who is considering lodging an application to study a particular program but has not yet submitted an application.

Applicant background: The following grouping is used to help prospective students, family and others easily find the admission information most relevant to their circumstances.

- Higher education study: Applicants whose highest level of study enrolment since leaving secondary education is a higher education program, whether at a university or non-university provider.

- Vocational education and training (VET) study: Applicants whose highest level of study enrolment since leaving secondary education is a VET course.

- Work and life experience (includes less recent secondary results or where selection rank is below the minimum requirement): Applicants who left secondary education more than two years previously and have not undertaken VET or higher education study since then. Extended time limits from completion of secondary education may apply to the experience based entry scheme.

- Recent secondary education: Applicants whose admission is based mostly on secondary education undertaken at school, TAFE or other VET or higher education provider (Australian or overseas equivalent) that was completed (or will be) in the current year or within the previous two years.

Bridging course: A course which assists students to gain knowledge in specialist areas that are a core component of the course. If a course requires a prerequisite in an area that students have not studied or worked with before, a bridging course will help students to bridge the gap in that knowledge and gain admission. Bridging courses offered at ANU are Maths Bridging and Chemistry Bridging.

Enabling Program: A program designed to provide students with skills needed for success in further study, to assist in the transition to tertiary education. Enabling program at ANU refers to the University Preparation Program.

Experience based entry scheme: Experience based entry scheme is a selection method to assess and select students who may not have assessable qualifications accepted at ANU for admission to a program but who have other relevant work and life skills and experience that make them a suitable candidate. Applicants with work and life experience are considered via Special Tertiary Admission Test (STAT) or work experience.

Gathered field: Applicants who have submitted an application by the application closing date are assessed for meeting minimum requirements. Those meeting minimum requirements are ranked and the top ranked candidates are offered places until vacancies in the program are full.

Procedure

General Procedure

1. All applicants must meet ANU admission requirements. With the exception of offshore programs where the entire program is taught and examined in a language other than English, all applicants must meet the ANU English language requirements. The English language requirements for admission policy outlines approved methods for meeting the English language requirements. Documents supporting an application for admission must comply with current standards and may be subject to a back to source audit.

2. Eligibility for admission into a program does not guarantee selection into a program. Applicants meeting the eligibility criteria for admission may be denied admission on the basis that:
   - a program or diversity target has reached the maximum number of students;
   - an applicant is deemed by the university not to meet the GTE requirements specified by the Department of Home Affairs;

- suitable supervision is not available for an applicant seeking admission to a degree of Bachelor Honours (honours year program) or Master Advanced program.

3. The University places restrictions on the admission of students under the age of 18. For information please refer to the Underage student management policy.

4. Any breaches in admissions standards, including conflict of interest (refer to the Conflict of interest and commitment policy) are reported to the Academic Quality and Assurance Committee, Academic Board and the Vice Chancellor.

Undergraduate domestic applicants (non-degree transfer)

5. Undergraduate domestic applicants apply to the University via University Admission Centre (UAC).

6. Applicants who do not meet the direct entry requirements may apply through ANU Pathway Programs, ANU Supplementary Admission Schemes or Experience Based Entry Scheme for eligible applicants. Detailed information about each scheme and how to apply is given in

- Table 1: ANU Pathway Programs;
- Table 2: Supplementary Admission Schemes; and
- Table 3: Experience Based Entry Scheme.

7. Applicants Selection Rank for Admissions:

- Recent secondary education applicants who have not attempted any further studies will be assessed on the basis of their ATAR or ATAR equivalent and any adjustment factors where applicable.

- Higher education study applicants who have completed a minimum of one year full time equivalent bachelor studies will be assessed on the basis of their best tertiary results from all assessable qualifications.

- Vocational education and training (VET) study applicants will be assessed on the basis of their best results from completed VET qualification at AQF level 5 or higher. If the VET qualification is incomplete, applicants will be assessed on the basis of their best secondary study results.

- Work and life experience applicants will be assessed on the basis of the Experience Based Entry Scheme where applicable.
