Policy: Course outline

Purpose
To describe the standards which underpin the University’s provision of coursework course guides.

Overview
Guidance for provision of coursework course.

Scope
This Policy applies across the University.

Policy Statement

Principles
1. ANU coursework courses have outlines that are:
   • In alignment with the strategic directions of the University;
   • consistent with the Higher Education Standards Framework (Threshold Standards);
   • consistent with the academic standards of the University, as set out in University policies; and
   • provided to students in an accessible and timely fashion.

Provision of Course Outlines
2. Every student enrolled in a coursework course at ANU is given access to current and accurate information about that particular course in a format consistent with the University’s course outline template. Students are able to access that information no later than two weeks prior to the start of teaching of the relevant course.
3. In rare cases where a departure from the University course guide template is required, a case that includes documented evidence of need must be made to College Education Committee and then University Education Committee for approval.
